Welcome to ISIS 2023.

The International Symposium on Advanced Intelligent Systems (ISIS) is a premier flagship academic conference in artificial intelligence and intelligent system. For over 24-years, ISIS has disseminated cutting-edge research in artificial intelligence and intelligent system. Theoretical findings as well as field applications disseminated throughout ISIS have been seminal. ISIS continues to serve as the quad to share novel approaches, discuss future directions, and network with the enthusiastic and world's leading researchers. We cordially invite you to join ISIS 2023. For more details, please visit our website: isis-kiis.org/isis2023

ISIS 2023 topics include, but are not limited to:

- Adaptive, hierarchical, evolutionary, neural and nature-inspired systems
- Affective Systems and Computer Information Systems
- AI System and data analysis – clustering and classifiers, pattern recognition, bio-informatics
- Artificial intelligence, deep learning, machine learning
- Big data and it's applications, and smart systems
- Biometrics
- Control and robotics, sensors, hardware, architectures
- Fuzzy mathematics, fuzzy set theory, and fuzzy logic and fuzzy analysis
- Fuzzy systems and theories
- Hybrid systems of computational intelligence techniques
- ICT applications
- Image, speech and signal processing, vision and multimedia
- Industrial, financial, and medical applications
- Kansei, human-machine interface, brain-machine interface
- Knowledge discovery, learning, reasoning, agents, knowledge representation
- Kansei engineering
- Optimization, decision analysis, decision making, multi-criteria decision making
- Software and hardware applications
